In accordance with the May 4, 2018, order of Administrative Law Judge John P. Dring, Union Pacific submits the following discovery status report.

After reviewing documents produced by Arkema, Union Pacific asked Arkema several follow-up questions about Arkema's document production process. Union Pacific understands that, as a result of those questions, Arkema has identified additional, potentially responsive documents that must be reviewed by Arkema's counsel and potentially produced to Union Pacific.

Union Pacific has completed its production of documents and other information.

C. Depositions

As discussed above, Union Pacific understands that Arkema has identified additional, potentially responsive documents that have not been produced. In addition, Union Pacific has not yet received Arkema's privilege log. Union Pacific has been hopeful it will be able to depose an Arkema witness in early July. However, Union Pacific cannot set a deposition date until Arkema completes its document production and produces its privilege log, and until Union Pacific has had time to review that material and resolve any additional questions that arise.

Respectfully submitted,
