STB needs to reign in the RTC. The RTC has aggressively pushed trails on communities and consistently blind siding adjacent land owners. They have developed tactics to steer the development of trails through the local political process. They must be controlled. There needs to be a limit on the number of times negotiation periods can be renewed. To allow unlimited renewals is promoting their agenda through the lack of governance. The STB cannot be remiss, to allow unlimited renewal indicates bias. This must be addressed with limited renewals. Although the RTC is a non profit, the more trails they develop the larger their membership grows. This allows for greater wages and bonus for the RTC leadership.
