I am very concerned about the increased traffic congestion, pollution and noise brought on by the significant increase in train traffic.

I live near the proposed affected tracks and already experience difficulties getting home at times due to train traffic. An increase in train traffic by 300% can only negatively impact the quality of life of people living in the area.

This traffic will go from 0.6 trains/hour to 1.875 trains/hour. That's almost 2 trains every hour every day.

How are people supposed to enjoy their summers with the constant hum of trains?

Until the City, State, federal government can figure out a way to minimally impact thousands of peoples lives I feel that this is a bad decision.

Aurora is one of the top cities in Illinois to live. I guaranteed ~~that the quality of life~~ will drastically change if people have to live with constant trains.
