Transcript:

I'm opposed to the Canadian National acquisition. The reasons are: the safety, traffic impact, inability for Canadian National to support financially the viaduct and safety programs that must be implemented to ensure both safety and ease of traffic flow from the western suburbs. There is no justification for imposing the financial responsibilities of these environmental and safety changes on the local, state governments and so long as no one is insisting that Canadian National be responsible for the impact, both from a safety expense, government expense, and depreciation of home value, resulting from their acquisition, federal government should protect the interests of its citizens, rather than that of the railroad's. Thank you.
